

Himlung Himal Expedition

TRIP OUTLINE

Himlung Himal (7126m) is situated in one of the remote parts of Nepal-Tibet border, Narphu valley west of Nepal. This mountain is becoming popular among the climbing expedition lovers.

Nepal opened the Himlung Himal climbing expedition after 1992. This expedition combines high peaks and passes, glaciers, remote villages, narrow canyons, lovely forests, amazing rock formations, yaks, Monastery and unique ethnically Tibetan cultures. Closed to trekkers until late 2002, very few outsiders have explored these virtually untouched villages or climbed the many 7000 meter peaks surrounding them. Restricted area permits are still needed for trekking or climbing.
